EXPENSE ACCOUNT ROBO

February 27, 1964

Dear -----:

As you know by now, the tax bill has been approved by the Congress and signed by the President.

There was some modification of the existing law with respect to expense accounts, although the revenue loss which would result from this change is negligible. The change which was provided only affected the deductibility of travel expenses for travel within the United States when part of the trip was for business and part for pleasure.

This did not go nearly as far as many had wished and, in fact, may prove to be of very little benefit. However, it does represent an improvement over the present act.

Sincerely,

Everett McKinley Dirksen
