Foreign Cement
January 15, 1965

Dear :

I have been concerned about the increasing amount of foreign cement entering the United States market and I realize the impact that this has upon the domestic industry. Not only the present impact, but the threats to the future well-being of the industry prompt me to repeat my efforts of last year to achieve some changes in the "Anti-Dumping" legislation. You may be certain that this will have close attention during the coming days in Congress.

Sincerely,

Everett McKinley Dirksen
