COMPULSORY ARBITRATION

April 26, 1967

Dear :

Measures have been introduced in the House of Representatives to provide for emergency arbitration boards in labor matters.

Before such a bill reaches the Senate for a vote it would be referred for committee action. I would want to give careful study and consideration to such hearings and to the final form in which this legislation is presented.

I am glad to have your views on this matter and will keep them carefully in mind when and if the subject comes before the Senate.

Sincerely,

Everett McKinley Dirksen

Dear :

I do appreciate your comments with reference to the two proposals dealing with the railroad strike which are now before a conference committee of the House and Senate. They will have careful and sustained attention.
